WATSON SEES DEFEAT OF DEBENTURE PLAN.

Washington, April 22.—(P)—Senator Watson, of Indiana, majority leader, in a statement late today said he was certain the senate would follow President Hoover's advice and eliminate the export debenture plan from the farm relief bill.

Watson declared the president has "cleared the air around the farm bill." "Under his able leadership," he said, "the congress will quickly enact a farm bill based upon the principles expounded in the republican platform. I feel certain the senate, as well as the house, will follow the president's suggestions and eliminate the so-called debenture export plan from farm legislation."

Although two democrats on the committee voted in conformity with the president's wishes. Senator Caraway asserted that the democratic ranks in the senate itself would be practically solid in favor of the debenture plan. He said there would be a few defections, but maintained these could be offset by the adhesion of western republican independents. The administration leaders, however, regarded it probable that the large republican majority could be held in line, generally speaking.

Shortly after the senate committee declined to support Mr. Hoover, the senate ratified the reorganization of the agriculture committee to which had been added three new republican senators, all of them from eastern states. The view was held by some committee members that had a vote been taken on the debenture proposal after the committee reorganization, a different result might bave ensued. Debate on farm relief in the house was consumed finally by arguments for the debenture bill by Representatives Jones, of Texas, and Rankin, of Mississippi. They asserted the arguments used in the senate committee discussion that the president's opposition to the debenture plan on the ground that it would encourage production was not in harmony with advocacy of high protective tariffs for industry which, they contended, also encourage production.

This argument also was used by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, who said he was "disappointed" to find the president opposed to a proposal "that would do the farmers the greatest good."

HEFLIN DEMANDS SENATE ACTION IN K. K. K. ASSAULT

Washington, April 22.—(A)—Sentator Heflin, of Alabama, today sought to have the senate express its condemnations of an "assault" upon him when he was making a speech under the auspices of the Ku Klux Klan in Brockton, Mass., on March 18.

He gave notice, after objection was made to immediate consideration of his request, that he would call up the matter tomorrow.

Senator Heflin is seeking to have the senate declare the following:

"Be it resolved, that the senate hereby expresses its condemnation and repudiation of the reprehensible and criminal conduct of those who sought to assault and do violence to Senator Heflin and to interfere with the right of free speech and peaceful assembly on the occasion of his speech at Brockton. was about fifteen minutes late Monday night is not to be taken as a precedent. The size of the crowd, many of whom were new to opera attendance, and a snarl in traffic, induced the Met officials to hold the curtain, for almost the first time in Atlanta's experience.

They vowed, however, they'd not do it anymore so, for the remaining performances, note carefully that the hour is eight and if you get there two minutes after you'll stay outside until the end of the first act. Saturday matinee of course, starts at two. And that's that.

The new Puccini opera, heard here for the first time Monday night, lived up to every advance notice. It was, in some respects, a bold thing to open the week's program with an opera new to fivily 39 per cent of the audience. For it is ana-operatically sophisticated community that will turn out en masse to hear something new in this form of entertainment. The average cities only send their big

Monday night, however, Atlanta answered the challenge, and answered it poured out their golden notes with such a company treading the boards with them.

It was noted that Harry M. Atkinson, president of the local organizations of the local organization. kinson, president of the local organiza-tion, the Music Festival association, was one of the "supes," as well as a number of other Atlantans and opers seriously on at least two other occasions.

And beloved Billy Guard, that press agent unique of the Met, strolled down the staircase himself, the beau ideal of cabaret strollers!

About the only prominent member of the Met organization present and not on stage was Rosa Ponselle and, in view of the fact that she is to sing the title role in "Aida" tonight, and also in view of the well-known fact that she can't get in a singing crowd without singing, it was thought well to keep her in a box as part of the audience, rather thap have her exercise the vocal cords prematurely.

Must Be On Time.

It might be apropos at this joint to warn the audiences for tonight and the balance of the week that the fact the tourtain was about fifteen minutes late Monday night is not to be taken as a precedent. The size of the crowd, many of whom were new to opera at the scene.

HOOVER IS WRONG ON FARM AID, HARRIS

Georgia Senator Takes Issue With President on Debenture Plan.

Washington, April 22.—(AP)—Declining to be influenced by President Hoover's opposition, Senator Harris, of Georgia, declared in a statement today that the export debenture proposal was a sound plan for giving the farmer at least partial tariff equality.

Newspapermen got quite a "kick" watching the troubles of the bell boys at the Biltmore when they attempt to page one of the singers. Plan Is Explained.

"As we export about half the cotton we raise, this would give the cotton growers an average of one cent a pound on all cotton grown. It is the surplus cotton we export that fixes the price, and the two cents per pound would stabilize the market and hold up the price.

"President Hoover's argument against the export debenture plan is that it will raise the price of cotton and encourage the farmers to "Many other objections raised by President Hoover are without foundation of fact. Under the provisions of the bill the board would not put this into effect until the farm products were selling below a fair price.

"There should be no opposition to this measure by cotton manufacturers because they claim it would sell our surplus cotton and other farm products abroad for less than in the United States. injured when he was struck by a falling wall.

Fire department officials believe that the blaze started in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Williams, who reside on the second floor and who left the city, Sunday night for New Orleans.

The fire was discovered some two hours after the electrical storm which swept the city, by Robert E. Hicks, Howard theater manager, when he was awakened by the smell of smoke. By that time the entire roof of the building was in flames and Mr. Hicks immediately awakened the family of J. R. Vaughan and helped them to safety. The other occupants were then aroused and all made hasty exits. Realising that no one drug can adequately conquer all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina druggist has found a combination of five ingredients which function together and give immediate, complete and safe relief for any kind of a headache, neuralgic, sciatic or rheumatic pains, quiets the nerves and leaves you normally buoyant with no depression, or bad after effects.

A touch of pathos was added to the near tragedies of the fire by "Brownie," a dog owned by the Williams family, which had been left behind when they v.cnt to New Orleans. Washington, April 22—(P)—Chief Justice Taft announced today that the supreme court would hear no more oral arguments in cases after this week, and that the court would take a recess from April 29 to May 13. He said no petitions for review or other motions except those for admission to practice would be received by the court after May 27. The court will end its present term on June 3.

We made and tested 1183 Lacquers Before "Rogers" was perfected and Ready for the market

Overwhelming sales success confirms this great Scientific Achievement

THOUSANDS of experiments and testing of 1 1183 different formulas were necessary before we were satisfied that we had a lacquer ready for the market. And then, so confident were we of its perfection that we offered it for sale under a money-back guaranty.

During the three years that Rogers Brushing Lacquer has been on the market

- 1. Over 17,000,000 cans have been sold. And every month sees new sales records established.
- 2. It has attained international distribution - endorsed and sold by 25,000 dealers.
- 3. It has become the world's most popular household utility lacquer.
- 4. By its high standard of quality and enormous sales it has become the young giant of the paint industry.

This is the Age of Lacquer

This year lacquer in the spray form will be used to finish over 5,000,000 automobiles. And as brushing lacquer it will decorate perhaps 10,000,000 articles in the home. Here, in most instances, it will be "Rogers."

I am well aware that the great majority of our important journals day by day give support to these high ideals.

I wonder sometimes, however, if perhaps a little more support to our laws could not be given in one direction. If, instead of the glamor of romance and heroism which our American in the support of the can imaginative minds too frequently throw around those who break the law, we would invest with a little romance and heroism those thousands of our officers who are endeavoring to enforce the law it would itself deour officers who are endeavoring to enforce the law it would itself decrease crime. Praise and respect for those who properly enforce the laws would help. Perhaps a little better proportioned balance of news concerning those criminals who are convicted and punished would serve to instill the fear of the law.

I need not repeat that absolute freedom of the press to discuss public questions is a foundation stone of questions is a foundation stone of American liberty. I put the question, however, to every individual consci-ence, whether flippance is a useful or even legitimate device in such discuseven legitimate device in such discus-sions. I do not believe it is. Its effect is as misleading and as distorting of public conscience as deliberate misrep-resentation. Not clarification, but con-fusion of issues arises from it. Our people for many years have been intensely absorbed in business, in the astonishing upbuilding of a great country, and we have attempted to specialize in our occupations, to to specialize in our occupations, to strive to achieve in our own specialstrive to achieve in our own specialties and to respect competency of others in theirs. Unconsciously, we have carried this psychology into our state of mind toward government. We tend to regard the making of laws and their administration as a function of a group of specialists in government whom we hired for this purpose and whom we call public servants. After hiring them it is our purpose casually to review their actions, to accept those which we approve, and to reject the Pungent Expressions In Hoover Address.

New York, April 22.—(AP)—Here are some pungent expressions used by President Hoover in his law enforcement address today at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press: If a law is wrong, its rigid enforcement is the surest guaranty of its repeal. If a law is right, its enforcement is the quickest nethod for compelling respect for it. No individual has the right to determine what law shall be obeyed and what law shall be enforced.

Respect for law and obedience to law do not distinguish between federal and state laws-it is a common conscience.

The sympathetic mind of the American people in its over-concern about those who are in difficulties has swung too far from the family of the murdered to the family of the murderer. it would itself decrease crime. If laws can be upheld only by enforcement officers, then our scheme of government is at an end.

I am wondering whether the time has not come to realize that we are not suffering from an ephemeral crime wave but from a subsidence of our foundations.

It is unnecessary for me to argue the fact that the very essence of freedom is obedience to law; that liberty itself has but one foundation, and that is in the law.

A surprising number of our people, otherwise of responsibility in the community, have drifted into the extraordinary notion that laws are made for those who choose to obey them.

Our law enforcement machinery is suffering from many in firmities arising out of its technicalities, its circumlocutions, its involved procedures, and too often, I regret, from inefficient and de Twenty times as many people in proportion to population are lawlessly killed in the United States as in Great Britain.

The United States reply to Canada's representations on the incident is being considered at the department of external affairs. It is anticipated that external affairs. It is anticipated that this lengthy note on the I'm Alone case will call for some reply from the Canadian government. It is expected, however, that the correspondence will be ready for perusal by parliament about Wednesday or Thursday.

SUICIDE QUESTION DECISION REFUSED BY SUPREME COURT

Washington, April 22.—(P)—The supreme court today refused to decide whether in double indemnity life insurance policies the burden is upon the beneficiary to prove that death was not due to suicide.

The death of Arnolad A. Ertola, of San Francisco, who carried such a policy in the Prudential Insurance Company of America, was selected as the test. His body was found on the seashore near Ukiah, Cal. Double indemnity of $10,000 was allowed by the lower courts to Stephen Baciocou, although the court of appeals announced that from the evidence produced in the trial court it was of the opinion that the cause of death was "an unsolved mystery."

With Frank Haley scheduled to do quite a bit of first-basing for the Crackers during the next few weeks, there are other changes contemplated by the silent and erudite manager, Wilbur Good.

University of Georgia Bulldog golfers made a Georgia day of the Emory university state golf championship tournament at Druid Hills Monday. Harvey Hill, long-shooting ace of the Red and Black, led his mates to team victory over Emory and Georgia Tech and he also won the low medal trophy with a 75.

Julius Hughes, Emory ace, whose team placed third in the team competition, took home the silver trophy petition, took home the silver trophy for second low medal while John Oliver, of Georgia, and Charlie Brumby, the warhorse of Tech, tied for low medal with 79's.

For no particular reason at all the scores in the team competition Monday were exceptionally high. There were only four scores out of the 12 players who took under the 80 mark and none below 75. The Emory solfers fell down harder Monday than their competitors. Allan Ford, who shoots a very good game of golf usually, took 94 strokes to get around Druid Hills while Murphey took 87. Gordon had a very respectable 81 and Julius Hughes had his 78 to make the total 330.

Georgia's team score was 319. Hill led the pack with 75 while John Oliver was next with 79. Legwin had an 82 and Brantley an 83. With the exception of Hill's 75 the scores were not sensational but they were more consistent than the others.

Charlie Brumby, the siege gun of the Jacket squad, headed his team with a 79, while Captain Shag Irwin, John' Leach and Scott Hudson all carded 81's. Their total score was 322.

Sand, No Grass In Vols' Park

Cracker players, who played Nashville in Sulphur Dell last Sunday, report that there is not a blade of grass anywhere in the park. The recent floods, which filled the park to a depth of 12 feet for more than three weeks, killed all the grass. Not that but there is a sand bar deposit of white sand left along the stands back of the plate. Which gives the Dell another record.

Gould Finds That About One in Every Ten Starts Off Season.

By Alan J. Gould,

New York, April 22 .- (AP) - Only about one rookie in every 20 tried out at the spring training camp actually, breaks into the opening team defeated Oglethorpe university day lineup on the basis of what the box scores revealed at the get-away here this afternoon, 7 to 5, in the first games of the 1929 major league campaigns.

At least 200 recruits had chances to show their stuff in the south and west but the lineups on the opening days last week showed only ten making their bows in the big show as regu-lars. There are, of course, some other newcomers in the ranks waiting a possible turn to break in before the clubs cut off superfluous talent, but not enough to make much change in the general ratio.

Here are the mapor league "delis : Dale Alexander, first base, Detroit. from Toronto.

TWO BIG EVENTS. For competitive purposes it is un-fortunate that the sprinters and pole vaulters featured in the Drake and Pennsylvania relay carnivals this week cannot be tossed into one and the same arena next Friday and Saturday. Drake has Claude Bracey, the Texas Tornado, with Jack Elder, of Notre Dame, expected to furnish sprint rivalry. Pennsylvania has George Simpson, of Ohio State, to give the eastern and southern talent a run for its day's exercise. These three stars, with Charley Borah, of southern California.

Only three pole vaulters in history have cleared 14 feet under any conditions, yet there are at least a half dozen college vaulters now threaten-ing to clear that height any time out. Busy Week Ahead Here and Abroad

This week brings such sport events as the Ryder cup matches and the Pennsylvania relays, so there should be busy days for spec-tators on both sides of the ocean. The United States golfers have encountered rough weather in England, but they would have done little better by staying on this side of the Atlantic.

If the weather man will be a little more considerate, new records are likely to be made, both in golf and on the track.

The old-timers are hard to discourage. There as Khurles "mile-a-minute" Murphy, the old cyclist, who claims to have wheeled the fastest mile in 57 4-5 seconds. Although now nearing 60 years of age, Murphy on a track near his home at Jackson Heights, Long Island, covered a mile recently in 1 minute, 32 1-5 seconds, and thinks he can do even better by June, when he observes the 30th anniversary of his record bicycle dash, made in 1988 with a train to pace him.

The fifth was halved in sixes, but Mrs. Kirkpatrick went one up agar on the island hole when Mrs. Smitt pulled her tee shot into the water. The seventh, another stroke hole, was won by Mrs. Kirkpatrick, but both players found enough trouble to take eights. That left Mrs Kirkpatrick one up, but Mrs. Smith carded 4-5 on the last two holes to take them both and turn the nine one up.

That turning point was the beginning of Mrs. Smith's final ascendancy. She took the first three holes on the back side to go four up at the cy. She took the first three holes on the back side to go four up at the 13th tee, but Mrs. Kirkpatrick fought back like a veteran. She halved two holes in succession without strokes, but only got a half on 15 with the stroke, and the match ended there with Mrs. Smith in the congratulatory grasp of the gallery.

The second flight match started just as the other did. Mrs. Wright, who was getting eight handicap strokes from Mrs. kraser, dropped the first hole but won the second with a four to strokes from Mrs. Fraser, dropped the first hole but won the second with a four to square again. On the third and fourth Mrs. Wright found trouble with her wood shots and lost them both to place Mrs. Frasel two up. That lead was short-lived, however. Mrs. Wright managed to halve the next two holes, then won seven, eight and nine in succession to turn one up, at the clubhouse. Mrs. Fraser found trouble from the tee on the 10th, and conceeded the hole to place her opponent two up going to 11.

There the tide turned for good. Mrs. Fraser took the short hole with a four, then captured 12 with a five to even the battle. A great five at 13 put her one up, and after halving two holes Mrs. Wright won 16 with a perfect five to square the things again.

New York, April 22.—(P)—If keeping your opponent guessing is an advantage in sport, old Dick Glendon of the Naval academy crews already has an edge on his sons, Young Rich and Hugh, who will send their Columbia varsity against his Middies Saturday on the Harlem river.

Frankly, these young men schooled in the Glendon tradition of victory do not know what to make of the crushing three-lengths defeat inflicted upon their father's crew by M. I. T. The invasion of the American Ryder Cup team, all home-born and home bred golfers, holds something much more important than the conquest of the British team in the matches that take place late this mouth. The idea is back of the invasion is first to beat at the British Ryder team—next to win at the British Ryder team—next to win at the British open, at Muirfield, and the British open, at Muirfield, and the French and the German open championships before returning to America for the dazzling United States open, at Winged Foot late in June. This is the most ambitious program any golf team ever faced. Yet, with a team headed by such golfers as Hagen, the possibilities can easily be seen.

Hagen, the team captain, looks for a hard match against the British team, but he expects his troopers to storm the heights. After that he believes one of his ten entries will be good enough to bag the British open, at Muirfield, and later on both the French and German championships. It is spilling no secret to say that Hagen is pretty well worked up over awarding the first leg of the cup to British golfers, since the team he named in 1925 was a nondescript affair, composed of those who happened to be present and in no sense picked as an official challenge cup to be played for. That, however, is a minor played for. That, however, is a minor point. The main story will be in the coming test only a few days away.

There is certainly a great chance that one of the Ryder Cup team will win the British open. Hagen himself is always a formidable opponent in this event, having won it three times in recent years. Gene Sarazen finished only a stroke behind him a year ago. Johnny Farrell will be a formidable contender. Horton Smith will be under his hardest and heaviest fire, playing on far away fields for the first time.

Europe that carried greater interest or that offered such dramatic possibilities. The British on this occasion will go in after a hard seige of training, keyed up to give all they have. The British open cup has been won longly once by a home-fiving British golfer since 1920. Havers won in 1923, with Hagen on his heels. If the United States delegation wins again, it will be rather rubbing the salt into open wounds. There will be four interesting international tests to follow between late April and the first of June, which means continued action on all fronts through the entire month

The Ryder Cup team has something more than local British talent to face—including such stars as Mitchell, Duncan, Compston, etc. There are at least two Scottish-born entries, now living over here, who will be dangerous barriers. One is MacDonald Smith. The other is Tommy Armour. These are both great golfers, experienced campaigners and fine shot makers who will be at home at Muirfield.

Four Games Scheduled For First Round of Closing Half; Smithies Lead League.

By Welch Jordan.

Prep baseball teams will swing into the second half of the 1929 pennant chase this afternoon with four games scheduled for the first round of the last half of the season.

Tech High, leaders of the prep loop, meet Russell High of East Point this afternoon. In addition to this game, U. S. B. meets Marist in what probably will be a pitchers' battle between Tucker and Holt. Boys' High journeys out to Bribane park to meet the Fulton High team in another of those battles that should be extremely close. G. M. A., getting back into the running after a layoff, will meet Decatur High on the latter's diamond.

The second half schedule will be the same as the first except that home teams in the first half will play on foreign field in the second half. Probably the best game of the entire second half will come on Tuesday. May 14. when Tech High faces Boys' High. The Smithies lost the first half game by a lone run, scoring none themselves, although they have beaten three teams that have beaten Boys' High.

If anything unseemly happens to the Yankees and Athletics there a belief among many oldtime ball players that Washington Senators will be worth a bet.

will be worth a bet.

The material is first class and if the team gives Walter Johnson what he is entitled to get, it will be 100 per cent of all they have through every game. It is impossible to figure Johnson as any hard driver, but he is the type of leader the right sort of ball club will hustle for to the last put out or the last run.

It is still a question as to how the veteran Yankees will stand the long grind beyond the halfway post. They came near buckling up late last summer when they had a lead of 13 games shot from under their ailing systems. If they begin to crumble again there should be a wild scramble on the part of Athletics, Browns and Senators to take advantage of the open gap. These three clubs rate together, with no big advantage to carry into action.

A Lesson for Heavyweights.

Any good foreign heavyweights—or for that matter, any good, local homebred heavyweights—should pay a visit to Buenos Aires and one Luis Angel Firpo for a lesson in business management. A trip of this sort would pay heavy dividends. If Max Schmeling had made such a trip the German fighter would not be in the tough spot he inhabits to day. He would have learned the famous Firpo system which means that the fighter who does the fighting and takes the punishment also that the fighter who does the fighting and takes the punishment also collects what money is coming in.

Firpo should come back and open a school of heavyweight direction. His idea is that if you show you can fight there will be no trouble in getting matches. And there will be a few managerial arguments when the fighter is taking 100 per cent of every dollar paid him .

Some day Joe Dundee the halfway welterweight champion, will win a fight and he his manager and the entire crowd of spectators will be unconscious from the shock.

Dempsey's Chance of Coming Back.

Dempsey was 24 years old when he manhandled Willard, just ten years ago. He will be 34 years old this next June. This may seem to be an advanced age, but he is younger than Tilden, Ruth or Hagen. He is younger than Jim Corbett was when he laid off for some years and came back to outpoint Jim Jeffries for 22 rounds.

As Dempsey has always taken good care of himself there is no reason why he shouldn't slip back into pretty good condition and at least be dangerous for any man willing to crowd in and mix it. He wouldn't look so good against a fast, shifty boxer who can also hit. But where is there a fast, active heavyweight who can also hit? Schmeling? But Schmeling comes crowding in, and that is the type of

Plenty of Entertainment. week's production is "What a Wom-an Wants" and that it can be entered on the credit side of the ledger is due in no small part to the thoroughly enjoyable portrayal of "the woman" by Miss Marian Grant, leading lady for the capable company and one who bids fair to establish a place for her-self in the hearts of theatergoers heres in no uncertain manner. Before entering the theater we wer nformed by signboards without that comedy-drama was to be presented within and such proved to be the case. The presentation was found to be most delightful by those brave souls who passed up the opening night of the grand opera season and went in search of good, wholesome fun. They found it.

Tale of Three Spinsters.

As for the story of the current production, it is concerned with three old maids who inhabit (live is not the proper word) a house (and not a home) in Lexington, Mass., famed in history as the place where the embattory as the place where the embat tled farmers stood, and so forth. The eldest of the three, Miss Pride Worth ington, has assumed the command of the situation and rules the household with an iron hand in the most approved puritanical manner.

In 1929, however, such methods refuse to work, and the audience is regaled with a revolution of only slightly less consequence than the one inaugurated in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Miss Patience Worthington, the youngest of the three, our friend Miss Grant, rebels in a most positive manner, ably assisted by a young medico in the per-son of Ted Osburn. He prescribes "aqua vita" (or is it vitae), for Miss Patience; she shares a slug with her sister Mercy, and the party is under

This is sufficient to give the casual reader a rough idea. There is more to the play, much more than can be described here and much better. There is plenty of entertainment thrown in on the side in addition to the main theme and it all helps to make an enovable evening.

While it can safely be said that Miss Grant carries off the large por-tion of the honors, she is amply as-sisted by Peggy Leonard as the elder Worthington; Gene Bergman, as the butler; Shelia Trent as Mercy; Walter Wilson, as the family lawyer and Marin Berkely as the hero of the piece. Harold Selman, Edith Leitner, Kenneth Curtis and Ted Osburn also contribute performances which are satisfactory to put it midly.

WILLIAM HAINES SCORES BIG HIT IN CAPITOL FILM

"The Duke Steps Out" this week at Loew's Capitol and if you want to see one of the best pictures that has come to town in a long time, join the crowd at the theater some night this week. It's there for you, backed up with a good vaudeville bill.

"The Dake Steps Out" is a story of the prize ring, written by Lucian Cary, who evidently knows something about the cauliflower industry and how to weave it in with a romance that is highly interesting. William Haines is the Duke, challenger for the lightweight title, who goes to college —a college, rather—because a rather beautiful young lady—she is Joan Crawford—is a co-ed there. And that's where everything begins.

The college part isn't overdone no is the fighting part of it. It's all woven skillfully into a picture that you can't help liking. Billy Haines has done his best piece of work in his picture. On the stage, William Oliver, in second spot for some reason, carries of the show with his wise-cracking and piano playing. Oliver is good at both and he nearly stopped the show with his act Monday night.

There are a couple of other good acts on the bill, one of them being Lydell and Higgins in a rube act.

Mr. Higgins is the venerable old generatemen and is very good. Mr. Higgins is the venerable old gentleman and is very good. Casa and Lehn provide a dancing act with a well-drilled chorus. Dave Gardineer and three helpers are on the bill. Also Reck and Rector.

A Metro Movietone feature and newsreel round out the excellent program. Even had they had nothing but the picture, it would be a great bill.

LITTLE DAVEY LEE STARS IN FARCE AT KEITH'S GEORGIA

A pleasant surprise is, as everyone knows, one of life's major joys. We were treated to one Monday at Keith's Georgia and we are duly grateful.

Georgia and we are duly grateful.

As the screen announced the start of "Sonny Boy," feature picture starring Davey Lee, we settled back to endure much watery sentimentalism and far too many close-ups of the youthful star of "The Singing Fool." And were these gloomy forebodings justified? They were not.

Instead, we were regaled with smart and fast farce comedy—of the good old-fashioned parlor, bedroom and bath type—with just enough admixture of sentimentalism to raise the work far above the level of the average farce. The producers did not keep the appealing little Lee youngster before the camera excessively, but brought him into view at judicious intervals and hereby greatly increased his follow-The story is a rollicking affair, utterly impossible and utterly enter-taining in a carefree way. pictures, is making a real hit at the Metropolitan this week. Conrad Nagel, possessor of "the best voice in talking pictures," proves him-self the usual efficient talker, gentleman gangster, lover of what have you. Lois Wilson, his wife in this particular picture, acts her part well through several gun battles and a prolonged gang feud.

The story opens with Lois Wilson in a taxicab that is cruising about a rather active section of gangland. Kid Gloves, notorious hijacker, is walking along the street and as the cab and Nagel meet, some rival gangsters in a passing automobile open fire. The taxi crashes, into the curb and Nagel finally makes his getaway. Leis Wilson faints, is ultimately rescued by Nagel, and then the actual story starts.

The plot is the usual one of a gangster reforming, only going back to his old haunts when he thinks the girl he loves is deserting him. In this he loves is deserting him. In this particular film, however, new ways have been invented whereby Kid Gloves and the wife he marries on 15 minutes' acquaintance reach the "lived happily every after" climax. The stage show seems to have been abandoned at the Metropolitan this week, but "Kid Gloves" is sufficient to carry the program through. And they are answered by a telephone company lineman, who gives all his strength to accomplish the seemingly impossible.

Alamo No. 2.

"Wickedness Preferred," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer farce now being shown at the Alamo No. 2 theatre, proves conclusively that all a bril-liant writer needs to turn out a South Sea island adventure is a typewriter, a vivid imagination—and an encyclopedia. In this picture, Lew Codzwho is co-starred with Aileen Pringle, poses as a world-famous traveler and writer but the film shows him getting his adventure data from a book, as, indeed, is sometimes the case.

TO HEAR PETITION OF 6 TRUNK LINES

Richmond, Va., April 22.—(P)—A statutory court of three judges tomorrow will hear here a petition for an injunction filed by six trunk line railroads to restrain the interstate commerce commission from requiring the railroads to put into effect reduced refrigerator car charges on fruits, vegetables and other perishable products as ordered, effective May 1.

Circuit Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., and District Judge Morris A. Sopher, of Baltimore, will sit in the case with Judge D. Lawrence Groner, of the United States district court, who will be in charge of the statutory court.

The railroads complaining of the commission's order are the Atlantic Coast Line. Baltimore & Ohio, Florida East Coast, Pennsylvania. Rich-mond Fredericksburg and Potomac and Seaboard Air Line.

In statements explaining the pur pose of the measure, Chairmen Smoot and Hawley expressed the opinion that such short-term financing would be more economical, that competitive bidding would result in the lowest possible itnerest rates and that the government, under the plan, would be able to take advantage of seasonal periods of low money rates.

will be more than 100.000,000 bushels in excess of the corresponding total last year.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 1.5-8 to 2.1-2 cent net lower, with rye showing 3.1-8 to 3-8 cent drop. Corn finished 1-8 cent to 1 cent down, oats 3-8 cents to 7-8 cents off, and provisions varying from 22 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Lowest prices reached by wheat came in the late dealings, all rallies having met with increased selling. The fresh declines meanwhile brought into execution many standing orders to let holdings go at various fixed limits, and thus put a stop to losses.

Likelihood that delay to farm aid legislation would result from making the export debenture plan a part of the senate bill was an outstanding feature associated with the general selling which accompanied the downward swing of wheat prices. However, numerous other factors contributed to the selling pressure, notably continued auspicious reports about the domestic winter wheat crop, together with persistent slackness of export demand for wheat from North America.

Special attention was given to a demand for wheat from North America.

Special attention was given to a statement free leading authorities here that the year-end word carry-over of wheat July 1 would approximate 350,000,000 bushels, an amount equaling about 40 per cent of the needs of importing countries for one year ahead without regard to the volume supplied by 1929 crops.

New York, April 22.—(P)—As the bulls gained control of the stock market, trading in the popular semi-speculative convertibles and securities carrying stock purchace warrants quickened today and gave the bond market an air of activity. The general list of fixed-income securities, however, slipped downward a little in spite of further credit easement of just barely held the gains scored last week.

The firmest section of the market was the United States government list. Responding to easing of time money rates, the Liberty's and Treasuries made gains ranging from 2-32 to 8-32s in continuation of the upward price movement that began two weeks ago. Most of the issues are now a point or more above the low levels reached late in March.

Trading Volume Reveals Public Trading on Increase

New York, April 22.—(P)—Stimulated by easier money rates and favorable earnings reports, prices on the New York Curb Market rallied by riskly today until just before the Sister of the Gose when profit-taking cut down some of the gains. The volume of trading showed signs of increasing public participation, particularly in the public utilities and a number of industrial specialties in which favorable dividend or merger developments are reported to be pending.

American (jas & Electric, climbing 6 points to 150, led the public utilities. Steady accumulation also was apparent in the American Super-Power in the American Super-Power in the American Super-Power in the Spoint gain.

Trading in the oils quited down somewhat, although Standard Oil of Ohio, was marked up 4 points on a turnover of less than 1,000 shares. A jump of 6 points in Fokker, and the exponent of Canada broke more than 75 per cent of the motion picture projectors in use, was booked.

New York, April 22.—(A)-Cotton New York, April 22.—(4)—Cotton was generally lower today under a renewal of near month liquidation and selling of later deliveries promoted by reports of good weather in the south and relatively easy Liverpool cables. July contracts sold off to 19c, but seemed to attract a little more trade buying or covering at this figure and closed at 19.07 with the general market closing barely steady at net declosing barely steady at net declines of 11 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 to 13 points in response to the lower Liverpool cables and the favorable view of weather conditions in most of the south over the weekland. There was considerable trade buying and covering accompanied by talk of a firmer technical position, but the demand was quiet, readily supplies and prices worked off to 19.70 for May and 19.19 for 'December, or about 19 to 23 points net lower during the middle of the day. As July approached the 19c level, the buying became somewhat more active and there were rallies of 10 or 15 points from the lowest on covering. NEW ORLEANS' PRICES EASE OFF.

PRICES EASE OFF.

New Orleans, April 22.—(P)—
Prices eased off about three-quarters of a dollar a bale in very active trading in today's cotton market. There was heavy liquidation by recent buyers and a good deal of short selling, but the offerings were fairly well absorbed by scale down trade buying. This buying and some short covering at times caused sizeable rallies. July after dropping to 18.97, down 17 points in the early trading, rallied to 19.12, or within 2 points of Saturday's close, and then declined to 18.92, a loss of 22 points, closing at 18.98, or 16 points net lower for the day. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 13 to 17 points.

Liverpool cables were regarded as unfavorable and first trades showed losses of 6 to 12 points. July soon eased off to 18.97 and October to 18.96, or 16 to 17 points below the previous close, owing to a generally favorable view of the weather and crop prospects. After rallying to 19.12 for July and 19.09 for October, or to within 2 to 3 points of the previous close, the market turned easier ly dropping to 18.92 and October to 18.93, or 19 to 22 points below Saturday's close.

The market ruled within the earlier last year 75,423. Spot sales 5,956; inst year 75,423.

The trade bought heavily. There was practically no outside support.

The market recovered about 10 points from the low, holding in a narrow range with long switching from near to distant months. The market closed easy on local selling; 15 down on nears.

Thought he market is entitled to a raily after the heavy liquidation of the past 19 days, as doubt any outside buying of importance until after first notice day.

REVISION MADE BY HYDE ORDER An order promulgating revised stan-dards for American Egyptian cotton and for Upland cotton of extra white color has been issued by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde. A need for the new standards for American Egyptian cotton was found to exist since changes in the color and to exist since changes in the color and preparation of the American Egyptian crop during recent years have been such that the present standards were no longer representative of American Egyptian cotton as now produced, according to the bureau of agricultural economics, which administers the cotton standards act.

The extra white standards apply in the grade classification of Upland cottons, employing the term Upland in its accepted bo unical sense, include all of the American commercial production of cotton except the American Egyptian and Sea Island types. As repromulgated, the extra white standards repromulgated, the extra white standards conform with the white grades in leaf and preparation and exemplify primarily the color differences.

The revised American Egyptian and extra white standards were exhibited in tentative form to representatives of interested groups of farmers, merchants and manufacturers, who were in attendance at the Universal Cotton extra white standards were exhibited in tentative form to representatives of interested groups of farmers, merchants and manufacturers, who were in attendance at the Universal Cotton Standards conference in March of this year. These representatives were unanimous in expressing a desire that the proposed revision and repromulgation be made by the department of agriculture.

The new standards, both American Egyptian and extra white. will become officially effective August 1, 1930, but under the terms of the order of promulgation, they may be used meanwhile permissively in the purchase and sale of spot cottons of these descriptions, when specific reference is made to them in descriptions mutually agreed to by buyers and sellers. The department announces that it is prepared to furnish practical forms of the revised standards at the usual rate of $5.5 f. o. b. Washington, for each grade, or $6.25 each delivered to any foreign country.

Whirl of Social Gayeties Beautiful New York Visitor Attends La Rondine's Premiere Planned in Today's Program

This season's production of Verdi's tuneful "Aida" tonight will be the signal for another outpouring of Atlanta society that is expected to rival in brilliance the magnificent opening night of the Metropolitan's annual appearance in Atlanta Monday evening. Judging by the wealth of social events planned in connection with "Aida," the performance is regarded by southern society as one of the most important of the entire opera season in point of vantage on the week's program and splendor of cast. Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman's luncheon today compliments Mrs. Thomas Swann, of Tampa, Fla., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Rawswann, of lampa, ria., who is visiting her sister, hirs. Charles A. Raw-son, and will be given at the home of the hostess on Fifteenth street. Another interesting and elaborate luncheon party planned for today is that at which Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant will be hosts at Craigellachie, their palatial home on Pace's Ferry road, the occasion to honor a group of opera stars and Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, of Augusta, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Grant. Another luncheon scheduled for today with Mrs. Calhoun MzDougall in the role of hostess with Mrs. Addison Pound, of Gainesville, guest of Mrs. L. A. Menzel, as honor guest, this lovely affair to be given at the Piedmont Driving Club. Mrs. Carl New, of Baltimore, Md., the guest of Mrs. William Akers, will be honor guest in the luncheon party that will be given at 1 o'clock by Mrs. W. H. Barnwell at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue. Miss Peggy Hearn of Hellywood. Carl home on Ponce de Leon avenue. Miss Peggy Hearn, of Hollywood, Cal. the guest of Miss Marguerite Snelling, is another popular visitor who will be honor guest at a luncheon today at which Mrs. Ludlow Jordan will entertain at her home on Myrtle street.

Ponselle in Title Role.

In the title role of this evening's opera, Rosa Ponselle, an old Atlanta favorite, will be heard again in the tuneful love songs and tragic musical epics that feature "Aida." Much interest centers in the appearance of Joseph Macpherson, the Nashville basso, who will be heard for the first time as the king. Lauri-Volpi, the tenor, as Radames, completes the triof outstanding stars sharing honors in the opera, and in addition the audience will have an opportunity again to hear and enjoy the beautiful voices of Julia Claussen, Pinza, Basiola, Tedesco and Dininelli.

The flower and chivalry of southern society were represented in the aristocratic assemblage which graced the horseshoe of boxes at the brilliant premiere of the 1929 season of grand opera, presenting Puccini's delightful score, "La Rondine," last evening at the city auditorium. Always elaborate in aspect, the scintillating semi-circle rivaled all former gatherings in magnificence. Never have Atlanta women been gowned more handsomely, more alluringly, never have jewels sparkled more brightly, and the fragrance of rarest flowers so completely pervaded the atmosphere of the vast auditorium as on last evening. Charming matrons vied with vivacious debutantes in assembling the most ravishing of costumes, featuring the softest chiffons, crisp taffetas, gleaming satins and the most flattering of silken laces and velvets. Never was there displayed such a wide range of delicate colors in gowns and wraps, and seldom has the couturiere's superb art been exhibited with such dazzling effect. A sprinkling of attractive visitors also enjoyed the tuneful opera from the boxes, prominent among the number being Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., who were central figures in the box occupied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Maddox, and Mr. and Mrs. William Kiser.

MEMORABILIA

The first time "Aida" was produced was in 1871, at Cairo, on Christmas Eve. The occasion was the opening of the new Grand Opera House, under the auspices of the Viceroy of Egypt.

The opera, perhaps the most spectacular, colorful and dramatic ever written, was produced to order by Giuseppe Verdi, especially for the occasion. Just how much his price for the task was, isn't known, but it is certain he was well paid. He was over sixty and wanted to retire. When they first approached him with the request that he write the opera, he tried to avoid the task by naming what he thought an impossibly high fee for his services. To his astonishment the proposal was accepted. He had no further excuse to refuse the commission.

In view of the occasion of its premiere, it is natural that the setting should be old Egypt-Egypt of the time of her Pharaohs. her might and her glory. It is a combination of tuneful, heroie music, spectacular pageantry, gorgeous display, delicious melody and tragic emotion.

The music for the different characters is subtly fitted to their personalities. It is one of the greatest-and most popular-operatic works of all time.

The Story

ACT I.

The opening scene, laid in ancient Memphis, is a hall in the palace of the Pharaoh. The two first characters on the stage are Ramfis, the high priest of the Temple of Isis, and Rhadames, a young captain of the royal guard.

Report has been received that the hordes of Ethiopia are rising against Egyptian dominance and preparations are under way to send a great army to crush the savage enemies. Ramfis, as high priest, is charged with the duty of interpreting the omens and portents delivered by the Goddess Isis and he tells Rhadames that the commander-in-chief for the Egyptian army will probably be the young captain himself.

Rhadames is naturally delighted at this mark of favor, but for more than the evident reason of success in his profession. He thinks of Aida, a young female slave, captured from the same Ethiopians in an earlier war, and with whom he has fallen desperately in love. He realizes that, with new victories and honors, he will be in position to save her from her sad situation and give her some of the happiness and comfort he so passionately desires for her.

Rhadames here sings one of the loveliest tenor arias in all opera, "Celeste Aida," in which he rhapsodizes over the beauty of his beloved.

At the close of this glorious solo, Amneris, daughter of the Pharaoh, enters. She is a dignified and queenly woman but beneath her formal exterior she is a woman of intense passions and overwhelming desires. She is herself enamored of Rhadames and at first thinks the happiness she has surprised in his appearance is because of her own presence. But it is really because Aida, the slave girl, is approaching and Amneris, realizing the truth, is aroused to angry jealousy that she, the daughter of the king, should be ignored for a mere slave.

The king enters with his guards and Amneris' rage is perforce hidden for the moment. The news that the Ethiopians have actually invaded Egyptian territory Except Aida. The slave, alone on the stage, blames herself for encouraging Rhadames when he is going to fight against her own people, led by her father. Yet she confesses to herself her love for the young Egyptian soldier. She sings a wonderful aira, "Ritorna Vincitor." Torn by conflicting emotions, the girl is near collapse. She calls on the gods for aid and slowly leaves the stage as the curtain falls.

Rhadames asks the blessing of the gods ere he leaves for war. He is blessed by Ramfis, while the choir of priests intones back stage. Ramfis sings an invocation, "Nume custode e vindice." Amneris is torn with regret at her impulsive action, for Rhadames, the man she loves, is doomed to die. She orders him brought before her and decides, if he will say he loves her, she will save him.

In glorious song she tries to win Rhadames and offers to save him from death if he will renounce Aida. But he refuses He declares that death for Aida's sake he would count the supreme happiness.

Amneris is overwhelmed with hate. She calls on the gods for revenge as the guards come to take Rhadames away to the judgment room.

Amneris is in agony at the thought of Rhadames' fate, but cannot bring herself to interfere. She sees Ramfis and the priests slowly walk by on their way to condemn Rhadames. At last she hears sentence pronounced. Rhadames is to be buried alive beneath the altar of the gods.

This Yeast is respectively and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. By this special formula ironized yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

INSTALLMENT XLIV.
A STARTLING STATEMENT.

A STARTLING STATEMENT.

McMaster was impressed. Wape had had the opportunity, and he had a motive. Then where was the machete—the weapon Paton had found. Still, he did not feel satisfied. It fitted in too well. He glanced admiringly at the woman in the low, comfortable official armchair with her pale, composed manner. A clever woman! How, he wondered, had she managed to procure the evidence which knit the case against Wape together? Could she have concocted the whole yarn out of her head? No. For she would realize that it would be tested and the actual evidence must be forthcoming. Paton was speaking into his ear: "Look here, sir," he urged, "this story is all very fine, but we must not lose sight of the fact that Mrs. Precee is out to save her husband. This tale about Wape may be true and may not. I won't say till we test the evidence. It hangs together, certainly. She may have made a lucky shot, may not."

"I agree."

Ready had a room as he was not exhaust the moning it was some urgent matter busband if she learns he has been unfaithful to her.

"All right. Try it," assented to other, reluctantly.
Paton turned to Claire: "Mrs. Precec." he said, "you asked us, when you arrived, if we suspected Major Precec. He do. We have a case against him. A good one of consider from the hourder was done. The police have a theory consistent with the facts of how Major Precec could have murdered Lepan. The puzzling feature of the case is not so much how was the murder committeed, but with the children of the case is not so much how was the murder committeed, but when you was to the case is not so much how was the murder committeed, but when you was to the case is not so much how was the murder committeed, but when you was to the case is not so much how was the murder committeed, but with a proceed to the committeed of the committeed of Paton paused, his eyes fixed on Claire. He had watched her closely while he had laid bare the bald outline of her husband's disloyalty. Her face had gone paler and paler: no other sign encouraged him to believe that the reaction he desired had been achieved. He had one more weapon in his armory; the existence of the boy, Should be launch it? Surely her pride, her self-respect and self-control would break down under that shock. "You see, Mrs. Preece," he resumed, "it was, in fact, a very serious thing for Lady Ronan if it were proved that their heir is illegitimate."

"I wish to understand exactly upon what—facts—you base this charge sagainst my husband. I don't quite follow you at present."

"The facts are these: on the night of the 20th of September, 1924, Major Preece and Lady Ronan both stayed at the Royal hotel at Swindon. It is true they did not occupy the same room, but having in view." Paton continued, dryly, "the past relations between them there can be no question but that a jury would draw the obvious inference. "You say you know Lady Ronan stopped at the Royal hotel that night?"

"Sure. I have the evidence of the bead waiter and a chambermaid; also head waiter and a chambermaid; also a porter at Mawne railway station who heard Lady Ronan say she in-tended to break her journey at Swin-

"I agree."

"Look here, sir," Paton continued, urgently, "let me outline the case against Preece. See what she says."

"Watch her reactions, eh? I don't like it, Paton. It's not—cricket. What do you wexpect to gain?"

"Maybe nothing, sir, but if I tell her the truth about Preece and Lady Ronan, we may get something. Obviously, she won't lie to shield her husband if she learns he has been unfaithful to her."

McMaster hunched himself up in his chair. "Mrs. Preece," he commenced, "you will, of course, understand that we have to produce alternative theories. We must explore every avenue. My colleague has perhaps been led away by his enthusiasm to construct a theory, not possibly entirely in accordance with the facts. You realized before you came here—indeed, that is why you came, and told us that very interesting theory about Capt. Wape, for which we are much obliged—that your husband was bound to fall under suspicion.

"I express no opinion," he continued. "as to the story you have told us this morning about Capt. Wape, or as to the theory constructed about your husband by my colleague."

He raised his hand as Claire was about to speak. "One moment, Mrs. Preece, please. I do tell you this for your peace of mind: I am certain neither Capt. Wape nor Maj. Preece committed this murder."

Claire rose. She hesitated a moment, then without a word she held out her hand to McMaster, made a very slight inclination of her head to Paton and walked with her graceful figure from the room.

"What did you mean by your last

Tallahassee, Fla., April 22 .- Florida's legislators late today piled up the most important mass of bills re corded since organization.

The administration's 1929 appro The administration's 1929 appropriation bill for approximately $12,-998,000 and a host of tax measures calculated to aid Florida's school system found their way to committees. A $1,000,000 emergency appropriation bill to provide funds for fighting the Mediterranean fruit fly, and a call to congress for $500,000 for the same cause were recorded.

Tax Measures Voted.

Both branches of the legislature reeived a number of tax measures. One of them in particular was understood to be closely aligned to one of Governor Carlton's proposed bills, its purpose being to provide additional revenue to the state's school system. The measure provided fort he establishment of a four-cent tax on gross premiums issued by all insurance and indemnity companies in the state, exclusive of fraternal and benevolent concerns. The funds thus derived would be apportioned by the state treasurer among schools of the state. The senate heard a bill by Senator Wagg, Palm Beach, for the establishment of a one-mill tax on real and personal property, to be apportioned among counties for school maintenance. The fund would be filed through the levying of an ad valorem tax of five mills on all taxable prop-erty in the state. Money thus derived would be used exclusively for teach-ers' salaries.

Insurance Tax.

A license tax of $200 each year for certain insurance companies, an an-nual tax on premiums graded in ac-cordance with the amount of the commual tax on premiums graded in accordance with the amount of the companies' Florida reserve invested in state securities, and individual license fees for insurance agents and adjustors was sought in a bill introduced, by Senator King, Orlando.

Representative A. W. Weeks, Holmes county, introduced a bill calling for an annual $25 tax on each separate store or unit of any chain store system in the state, and an additional tax of two per cent of the monthly gross receipts of each unit. One-third of the proceeds from such an act, after payment of collection expense, would be placed to the credit of the state's general revenue fund. Another third would be remitted to the county from which the tax was collected, and the remaining third would be placed to the credit of the state school fund and distributed proportionately among the counties of the state.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS URGED FOR GEORGIA

Experienced Engineer Shows Advantages of Well-Paved Highways.

With the roads of Georgia in their present condition, the state is losing more money than any advanced good roads plan would cost, in the opinion of E. E. A highway expert of experience, who has contributed numerous articles to magazines on this subject and every week sends out syndicated articles to more than 2,000 newspapers throughout the country.

Mr. Duffey makes a business of traveling all over the country studying highway conditions and has been a Atlanta for the past few days folowing a weeks' tour to various parts of the state. He expects to remain here until the end of the week, when he will leave for Birmingham:
"The heavy loss due to poor roads
due to the fact that tourist travel voids this state; and that road un-cep cost is excessive," Mr. Duffey declared. "On coming into the state," went on, "I was immediately impressed with the lack of 1929 roud building preparations. There is not a single state in the union in a position to permit any let-up whatsoever in road building. Certainly Georgia, in road building. Certainly Georgia, with so few pavements for the great bulk of traffic; is not.

"Immediate steps must be taken by Georgia to hasten her road building program," he declared. "Other states have proved the efficacy of methods which may be adopted here. Clearly, an increase in the gas tax permitting immediate construction work would be desirable and less costly than the poor roads tax now being paid.

said Horace A. Mann, President Hoover's southern campaign director, had given him the assurance.

The statement, Mr. Street said, was prompted by press dispatches from Washington Saturday quoting J. O. Thompson, of Roba, former chairman of the state republican committee, that "the present patronage referee in Alabama has followed the practice of assessing office-holders a percentage of their salaries for party expenses." Street entered a categorical denial to the charge, adding, "I have never done such a thing and have never allowed it, to be done so far as I could prevent it." He continued that he had never heard of such practices in Alabama.

Here is convincing proof of judicious buying

This impressive transition in the buying thought and buying practice of American motorists urges careful consideration and makes easy your immediate decision

LAID; WASHINGTON

GAVEL IS WILLED

A great white light of conviction has quite evidently embraced the motoring public of America within recent months and has massed a sales volume for Cadillac and La Salle necessitating expansion of plants and properties greater than at any other single period in the history of the Cadillac Motor Car Company . . .

When a host of motor-car buyers register a pronounced change in buying habit and turn from any number of price classifications to the highest quality car on the market, you may be sure there is a profound reason for that change.

All the world knows it to be true, of course, that the highest quality product is inevitably the most economical-and the wisest investment. Yet even the soundest buyers of rather modest income have in the past been rather hesitant about making a more substantial initial investment in a motor car, probably for no other reason than the suggestion that they might be buying beyond their means.

Cadillac and La Salle-for very practical and very vital economic reasons-are most assuredly not beyond the means of anyone who can invest just a little more at the outset.

And it is this conviction that has quickened the motor-car buyers of America and animated them to turn, in such amazing numbers, to Cadillac and La Salle as the soundest and surest of motor car in-

They quite obviously realize now that an investment in either of these cars will actually pay dividends that more than offset the slight additional original expenditure-dividends in freedom from costly mechanical repairs and service charges; dividends from economy of operation; dividends from vastly greater trade-in value; and those less tangible but priceless dividends in satisfaction and contentment, prestige and pride of posses-

You know full well that both Cadillac and La Salle are built to last a lifetime. Not that you intend to drive any car a lifetime-but you may amass five years of hours or miles in two years. And whether you drive a Cadillac or La Salle a year, or five years, or ten years in hours or miles, that Cadillac or that La Salle must yield uninterruptedly brilliant performance-for the very reason that these cars are built to last a lifetime.

Translated into these terms, an investment in a one-year or two-year or threeyear car is no investment at all; it is beyond anyone's means no matter how little expenditure it may entail.

Actual costs of operation covering hundreds of thousands of miles of usage throughout the country by individual owners and large corporations prove conclusively that from a service and operating standpoint Cadillac and La Salle are the most economical cars to own.

And it is a universally accepted fact that the owner of a Cadillac or La Salle is always assured of a substantial trade-in value. He has made a sound, judicious financial investment-and not just bought

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-La Salle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

PEACH MEN WARNED OF CURCULIO MENACE

While Florida citrus growers were taking every possible step to combat the dangerous Mediterranean fruit fly, officials of the Georgia bureau of entomology Monday moved to com-bat the peach pest, "curculio," which is said to be seriously menacing orch-

A bulletin to north Georgia peach growers advising steps to fight the curculio was dispatched Monday by the state entomology department. The culios were caught April 19 when 50 curculios were caught April 19 when 50 curculions were caught april 19 curculions were caught april 19 curculions when 50 curculions were caught april 19 peach trees were jarred early in the morning to determine the number of curculios in the orchard. The bulletin advised the following proceedure:

The next spray application, which should be applied during the week of April 20, May 4 should contain one pound of lead arsenate (powdered) to each 50 gallons of 8-5.0, self-boiled lime sulfur. A proprietary sulfur may be used in place of the self-boiled lime sulfur. If desired, but if used, five pounds of hydrated lime should be added to each 50 gallons of diluted apray to prevent follage burning. Do not leave out the arsenate of lead in this application.

Drops will be falling heavily by the first of May. All drops from the size of a quarter should be picked up and burled two feet under ground and away from the orchard. Drops under trees near the woods should be picked up first, as it is there that the heaviest infestation near the woods should be picked up first as it is there that the heaviest infestation will occur. No baskets containing drops should be allowed to stand over-night in the orchard as many worms will escape and go down into the ground. Curculo larrae will begin pupating in the soil about the first of May. From that time on the ground should be cultivated frequently to break up the pupal cells in the soil, thus destroying many worms. The soil beneath and close up to the tree contains the most worms and this portion should be most carefully cultivated, using an extension dies-harrow. It is not necessary to harrow deeply as the larvae pupate almost entirely in the top three inches of soil.

Hoover challenged the right of the lower court to punish jury shadowing under contempt statutes unless it first is shown that the surveillance "obstructs justice or has a direct tendency to obstruct justice." He denied this has been proven in the case and said the detectives had obeyed strict orders not to make contacts with the jurors.

Owen J. Roberts, special government prosecutor, questioned the purpose of the jury shadowing by declaring Sinclair could have had the court lock up the jury had he so desired. ABDUCTION OF GIRL GETS DEVONSHIRE YEAR IN PRISON

Philadelphia, April 22.—(4)—Curtis S. Devonshire, who took Alice Labutis, 12, in an automobile to Charlotte, N. C., where he was captured several weeks ago, today pleaded guif-ty to an indictment under an old law charging false imprisonment and was ed to one year in the county prison.

The little girl testified that Devonshire, who was a salesman, had asked her to show him where a former neighbor lived. She got in his automobile and he drove out of the city. Despite her protests, she said, he drove all night and the next day and finally reached Charlotte. She said that Devonshire was drinking and was always promising to take her home.

The little girl said that Devonshire

Charges that they had paid Shelby county deputy sheriffs "protection" money of from $25 to $37.50 a week was made by government witnesses in federal court here today, when 16 persons, jointly indicted on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, went on trial.

The charges were made by admitted bootleggers who said that they were warned from one to five days in advance of raids on their stills.

The men on trial include Sheriff Curtis J. Falkner, of Shelby county four Shelby county deputy sheriffs, four former deputies and seven others. Three others also named in the indictment pleaded guilty at the opening of court and were sworn in as government witnesses.

Sentencing of the three was held up by Presiding Judge W. I. Grubb, pending settlement of the case against.

losis.

The newly found acid has the power of causing rapid multiplication of one strain of blood and tissue cells in the body to the exclusion of all the other cells of which the body is made up.

If it is found to be the only substance that will cause tubercles to grow, further research will be carried on to combat its effect to bring a so-lution to the cure of the dread disense.

It was pointed out in the discussion that the discovery was of the greatest significance also in the study of cancer and other tumors, as in these severe diseases some substance acts which makes one cell grow at the expense of the other cells of the body.

Marshal Forced To Retreat in Great Disorder After Night Attack.

Chefoo, Shantung, China, April 22.
(P)—General Liu Chenbanien inflicted a serious defeat during the night at Ninghaichow on forces of Marshal Chang Tsung Chang, who retreated in great disorder through Chefoo.

It was reported that Chang was fleeing to Dairen (Japanese territory), leaving 25,000 leaderless banditsoldiers in north Shantung. Residents and merchants here were apprehensive.

Liu gained his victory under cover of darkness, making repeated sorties from the walled city, where he has been beseiged for weeks. The attacks produced the greatest confusion among Chang's forces, who fell upon each other in the darkness and killed many of their own men.

As the retreating troops of Chang rushed pell mell and in the greatest disorder through Cheefoo, representatives of the former war lord demanded $2,000,000 (Mexican) of the Chefoo merchants.

Many of Chang's soldiers were dis-ture which was to have been shown at the Palace theater here, commencing Sunday midnight, is being withheld under strict police orders, following a heated contest.

The proposal to show the picture brought vigorous opposition from the Better Films Committee of the Wimodawis Club, in which the Valdosta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and other organizations joined. This was also seconded by the Valdosta Ministerial Association and very general public sentiment, causing the police department to take a stand and issue orders that the picture be suppressed. Washington, April 22.—(P)—Red Cross activities, which since 1881 have required the expenditure of $80,-500,000, including more than $3,-000,000 contributed to foreign and inchapter of the United Daughters of the Oonfederacy and other organization from all parts of the world. The representatives of the organization from all parts of the world. The representatives of the organization from all parts of the world. The representatives, attending the eighth—national conference, had on their program tonight addresses by Secretary Wilbur, Paul Draudt, former American ambasador to Turkey, and secretary of the International League of the Red Cross Societies, and Emilo Bel Toro, chief justice of the supreme court of Porto Rico and honorary-president of the Porto Rico Red Cross chapter.

Rev. T. S. McCallie, chairman of the Chattanooga (Tenn.) chapter, was unanimously elected permanent chairman of the convention. Dr. Thomas D. Dreen, head of the speakers' bureau, was elected secretary.

James L. Fieser, vice chairman in Headricks and family, extend thanks to reau, was elected secretary.

James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, predicted today that before the organization meets again "more will have been accomplished in the matter of chapter and national preparedness than in any corresponding period in the organization's history."
